

Dead By Daylight themed text adventure, Playing as a survivor trying to escape the killer, having to make life or death decisions and working around your environment in order to survive the trial.

Phasmophobia ghost themed text adventure, searching through a streethouse for evidence. You look around different rooms, trying to gather evidence to piece together what spectral being is haunting this home before it gets you.

You're a ghost, living in an old abandoned mansion, when abruptly a team of paranormal experts invade your resting grounds. You've been here for many years and you've grown quite bored, so you decide to play along with them for a little while Zombie survival scenario, trying to navigate through a abandoned town, where the only thing left is the undead, or so you think.

Your wife has been kidnapped. You now need to use all those connections and favours you saved up to get the info you need to find her. If you fail to do so, you may become the next widoer.